

Abstract of the Disclosure

An intravascular occlusion balloon catheter having a removable hub, a profile sized to approximate a guidewire, and a means for venting air from the balloon. The removable hub and the small profile allow the occlusion balloon catheter to be used as a 5 guidewire. The venting means allows air to be easily and reliably removed from the balloon prior to use.